

THE INNER HORIZON

The background of the cover is a painting. It depicts a woman's face in profile, facing left, with her eyes closed. The face is rendered in a way that it appears to be emerging from or merging with the sea. The sea is turbulent, with white foam and deep blue-green waves. The overall color palette is dominated by various shades of teal, blue, and green, with some white highlights from the foam. The style is painterly and expressive.
